

INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOP

Nuclear Reactions on Nucleons and Nuclei

Messina (Italy) , October 25-26, 2017

Organized by:

University of Messina

Scientific Program

The Conference will focus on the new projects and new lines of researches in the field of the Nuclear Reactions that will be developed in the main Laboratories and Research Centres during the next 10-15 years.

Therefore, the conference is open to contributions on various kinds of nuclear reactions (also of astrophysical interest) between nuclei, and between particles and nucleons.

The main emphasis will be devoted to the discussion (from experimental and theoretical points of view) of processes leading to heavy and light reaction products (with or without compound nucleus formation), synthesis of superheavy nuclei, investigations of baryonic resonances by hadronic or electromagnetic interactions and their decay with the production of scalar and vector mesons.

General Information

The Conference will be held in the library room of the “Accademia Peloritana dei Pericolanti” of the University of Messina, and it will consist of invited talks and also of contributions selected among abstracts submitted by interested participants.

Additional information will be found at the Conference Web-site (<http://newcleo.unime.it/Events/NRNN2017>).

Registration Fee

The registration fee for a participant of the Conference will be 150 Euro (including welcome reception, coffee and lunch breaks, Conference dinner and publication of proceedings by an International Publisher). The fee for an accompanying person will be 100 Euro. Please note that the fee should be paid at the Conference desk in cash (Euro).

Proceedings

All contributions are invited and selected following the suggestion of the International Advisory Committee. We will arrange short talk for specific subject and large talk for review presentation. Proceedings paper discussing on the content of the presented short or long talks of all participants will be published in an international electronic journal indexed by ISI-Web of Science and SCOPUS.
